The San Antonio Express-News has an editorial out this morning advocating for a media shield bill to become law:

Pence successfully led the charge for shield law legislation in the House, and his words illustrate the importance of getting similar legislation through the Senate.

The effort gained momentum last week when all three major presidential candidates endorsed a shield law.