As millions of Hoosiers file their income taxes today, Tax Day serves as a painful reminder of how much of their hard-earned money goes to Washington, D.C. During these challenging economic times when many Hoosiers are hurting, we must do all that we can to make sure that people get to keep as much of their money as possible and that our tax system allows businesses to flourish and our economy to grow. Fiscal discipline in Washington, D.C. and fast-acting tax relief for working families, small businesses, and family farms are what will put our economy back on track and help to create new jobs.