Anderson, IN—U.S. Congressman Mike Pence issued the following statement today regarding the tornadoes and violent storms that swept through southern Indiana yesterday:

"Karen and I are heartbroken and offer our condolences and prayers to the people of southern Indiana today in the wake of yesterday's deadly storms.

"As the recovery and rebuilding efforts get underway, I look forward to working with Governor Daniels and the rest of the Indiana congressional delegation as we assess the damage and investigate what resources may be available from the federal level."
