National Review Online's David Frum has an analysis of the Washington Post piece by Hanna Rosin that ran on the front page of the Style section yesterday and talked about the involvement of evangelical Christians on Capitol Hill.