Congressman Pence was quoted in a story the Muncie Star Press this weekend on farm subsidies. Click here for the story.

Key excerpt:

"It's an easy issue to demagogue," said U.S. Rep. Mike Pence, R-Ind. "There are groups that love to publish subsidies that farmers get on the Internet. It makes the local farm community kind of uncomfortable because ... people look at that and go, 'Wow, we got Bill Gates living down the road wearing overalls,' but it doesn't actually function that way when you understand agricultural enterprises. Input costs like chemicals, fuel and equipment are very significant."
