

Excerpt: Accuracy in Media warned today that a scheduled Thursday hearing by the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation is the opening salvo in a liberal push to silence conservative voices in the media. AIM editor Cliff Kincaid noted that Senators Barbara Boxer and John Kerry, two prominent members of the committee, have been quoted as saying they favor governmental action through a vehicle such as the so-called Fairness Doctrine to regulate and restrict conservative talk radio.

Full story here .