

Congressman Pence blogged on RedState about the United Nations' Durban Review Conference - worth a click :

Over six decades after the Holocaust, we still must recognize and combat the continuing threat posed by bigotry worldwide. Hate-mongers frequently cloak their actions in democratic values; take the United Nations' Durban Review Conference, which convenes in Geneva next month. Ostensibly aimed at combating intolerance, "Durban II" and its draft declaration have been hijacked by human rights violators and irredeemably distorted into an anti-Semitic, anti-Israel, anti-freedom hate-fest - one funded by more than $2 million from the UN's regular budget. Appallingly, Durban II's organizers are attacking human rights, while falsely claiming to promote them - all paid for by American taxpayers.

With objections to Durban II mounting, the conference's organizers are now trying to deceive the world by offering a "compromise": discarding some of the draft declaration's blatantly offensive provisions, while preserving language that still implicitly advances hate.

We should reject this duplicitous move. Like the struggles of years ago, we must never eschew what is right in favor of what is easy. We can abdicate neither our responsibility to address and reject bigotry wherever it lurks, nor our obligation to safeguard public funds as Americans face extraordinary economic challenges. To give meaning to the words 'Never again,' the United States and other responsible nations must not fund or participate in any part of Durban II.
