

"Our nation deserves a strategy for prosperity, not more spending, more taxes and more unemployment."

WASHINGTON, DC - U.S. Congressman Mike Pence made the following statement in reaction to the Labor Department's announcement today that the unemployment rate rose to 9.5 percent and that 467,000 jobs were lost over the last month:

"At a time when families are struggling to make ends meet, the rising unemployment rate is further evidence that we cannot borrow and spend and bail our way back to a growing economy.

"More than four months after the economic stimulus was signed into law, our country still faces the highest unemployment in almost three decades.

"Sadly, Democrats' answer to near record unemployment is runaway federal spending and a national energy tax that will increase the cost of energy on every household in the country and cost millions of American jobs.

"Congress should be doing what every American family is doing during these tough economic times: cutting expenses, and making sacrifices.

"Instead, Washington is pushing for more spending, more debt and higher taxes, all on the backs of our nation's taxpayers.

"Our nation deserves a strategy for prosperity, not more spending, more taxes and more unemployment."
