JOB FAIR TODAY

PENCE TO KICK OFF WITH 10 A.M. PRESS CONFERENCE

Washington, Aug 1, 2003 - MUNCIE, IN - Congressman Mike Pence and Ball State University will host the 7th Annual 6th Congressional District Job Fair today. Congressman Pence will kick off the job fair 10 a.m. with a press conference and will be available for media interviews throughout the day.

“We expect nearly 60 businesses to participate in this year’s Job Fair at Ball State University,” said Pence.

A special addition to this year’s job fair, representatives from FEMA will be on hand to assist flood victims from eastern Indiana.

“The financial assistance from the federal government will be a great help to families and businesses affected by the flood and the FEMA representatives will provide the necessary support to ensure these funds are used effectively,” said Pence.

Resume seminars and assistance will also be available. Seminars will be conducted by Ball State University’s Center for Organizational Research. Resume writing assistance will be provided by Muncie Southside High School’s Honor Society and the Ball State University computer lab staff.

“This year’s job fair offers something for everyone,” said Pence. “Whether you are looking for a job, or if you are an employer seeking great workers or simply need help on your resume, join us at the 7th Annual Job Fair.”

As in previous years, Kindercare Learning Center will be providing free child care for jobseekers and resume writing assistance will be available.
